

Emoze Instant Messaging

Emoze Instant messaging is a great way to quickly and inexpensively stay in the loop with family, friends, co-workers and colleagues. Using IM rather than SMS gives you instant confirmation that the person you want is available. You can see who is on-line, status changes, photos and more. Even when the messaging application is closed, you get notified the instant you get a message. Not only that, but instant messaging provides a fast, reliable method of communication that doesn't drain your mobile battery.

The Emoze IM solution, designed specifically for feature-phones mobile devices, is an effective and efficient method of communication that enables subscribers to send and receive chat messages in real-time. Emoze instant messaging is a bi-directional message exchange with immediate receipt of acknowledgment and ability to reply.

Emoze Messaging allows you to personalize your profile, add new friends, update you status message, chat with multiple friends, change your status, send and receive emoticons all with a high degree of confidence that the recipient will receive the message in real-time.

Emoze enables you to communicate via the Emoze Messaging Community and via three popular messaging programs as well.

With Emoze you can chat via:

-  Emoze chat
-  Google Talk
-  Facebook Chat
-  MSN Messaging

Features

Simple

Getting started with Emoze instant messaging is simple. Select the desired messaging service from the options menu. Create a profile by selecting a display name and gender. Press Save to become a registered user

Once registered, you can search for and invite friends by selecting Invite Friend from the drop-down menu. Select friends and send them an invitation.

If you receive a friend invitation when the messaging application is closed, a notification pop-up will appear on your screen enabling to respond immediately.

Smart

Emoze instant messaging gives you smart features. You can see and change your status message easily. Choose to show your status as online, away or offline. Select a friend and see their status immediately enabling you to know if they are available to chat.

When one of your friends sends you a new message or a friend invitation, you immediately receive a notification. If the Emoze messenger is closed you still receive a pop-up message with your friend's name and the message.

The major functionality of instant messaging is chatting with your friends. In order to chat with a friend, just select the name from your friend list and write the message you want.

With Emoze, you can send and receive the most popular emoticons. You can also create multiple chat conversations at the same time and easily navigate from one to another. In addition, you can even add a photo to your profile

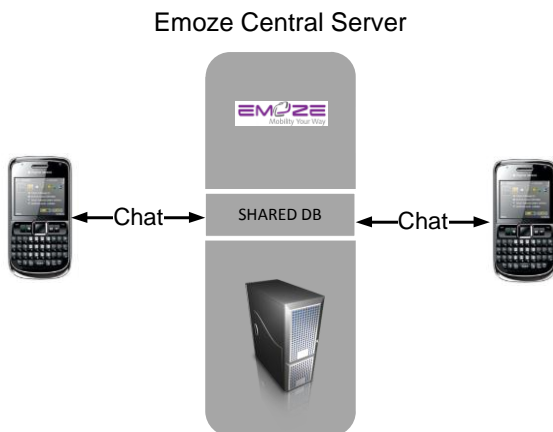

Sophisticated

Emoze is not the only messaging service available for you to use. You can also chat with Google Talk, Facebook Chat, and MSN messaging. Simply select the messaging service you want from the options menu.

When you sign into an alternate messaging service, you see your friend list and the status of the people with whom you want to chat.

Technology

Emoze Community Messaging service allows instant messaging services to be accessed from any feature phone. It enables full interoperability between networks and communication platforms with no need for technical and consumer support. Emoze uses a dedicated server that manages the Emoze messaging solution.

Emoze offers a user-friendly interface that enables easy user registration and authentication. It is easy to add new friends and to manage your Friend List. There is no need to download any software to the handset Emoze's native solution is based on patented technology that combines a synchronization engine with a notification agent that causes a real time pop-up notification every time a new email arrives. Even if the Emoze messenger application is not running, the Emoze solution enables the user to receive messages. By turning the Emoze engine off completely, the user doesn't waste costly data transfers or compromising battery consumption.

You can personalize the Emoze instant messaging in all the following ways:

- Availability status – see your on-line friend's status as well as change your own availability status.
- Change profile – switch between profiles, meaning login with different user.
- Show Notifications – displays a pop-up message every time a new message or invitation arrives.
- Create log file – keeps a file of application events in case of problems
- Roaming – enable/disable messenger services while out of town.

Benefits

Emoze enables you to enjoy the best chat experience, specially designed for your phone. Emoze Community Messaging enables you to easily connect with family, friends, co-workers, and colleagues in real-time.

The Emoze Instant Messaging solution offer benefits for both business and personal users.

Business

- IM can link geographically dispersed workgroups. It can be used as a substitute for short-duration phone calls, eliminating expenses.
- IM can be used as a back channel. For example, if team members are talking with an external client on the phone, IM can be used between internal team members to plot strategy or to help clarify points.
- IM is real-time resulting in immediate responses. For time-sensitive business processes, such as customer service, crisis management and problem resolution, IM is the key.

Personal

- Chat with your friends reliably in real-time
- Connect with multiple friends
- Share feeling using emoticons
- Get personalized alerts – sound, vibration plus a pop-up window displaying the new message
- Easy management of friends or buddies
- Ability to set your status so your friends know if you are available online
- Ability to easily change your personal status message to let your friends know what you are doing

Instant messaging can be important in emergency situations rapidly disseminating critical information to the entire company, groups or individuals in cases of natural catastrophes, health issues, network outages or schedule changes.
